NEW QUESTION: 1

How does LLQ ensure that voice traffic is always expedited?

- A. The strict priority queue has a higher weight than the queues in CBWFQ. This weight allows the delay-sensitive data such as voice to be dequeued and sent first.
- B. LLQ uses CBWFQ to prioritize voice traffic and by dequeuing the voice packets so they can be handled first.
- C. LLQ adds WRED to CBWFQ. This allows delay-sensitive data such as voice to be dequeued and sent first.
- D. The LLQ strict priority queue allows delay-sensitive data such as voice to be dequeued and sent first (before packets in other queues are dequeued), giving delay-sensitive data preferential treatment over other traffic.

Answer: D

Explanation:

Without Low Latency Queueing, CBWFQ provides weighted fair queueing based on defined classes with no strict priority queue available for real-time traffic. This scheme poses problems for voice traffic that is largely intolerant of delay, especially variation in delay. For voice traffic, variations in delay introduce irregularities of transmission manifesting as jitter in the heard conversation. The Low Latency Queueing feature provides strict priority queueing for CBWFQ, reducing jitter in voice conversations. Configured by the priority command, Low Latency Queueing enables use of a single, strict priority queue within CBWFQ at the class level, allowing you to direct traffic belonging to a class to the CBWFQ strict priority queue.

NEW QUESTION: 2

Refer to exhibit:

Which two destination addresses will be used by Host A to send data to Host C? (Choose two.)

- A. the MAC address of Switch 1
- B. the MAC address of the router's E0 interface
- C. the MAC address of Host C
- D. the IP address of the router's E0 interface
- E. the IP address of Switch 1
- F. the IP address of Host C

Answer: B,F

Explanation:

While transferring data through many different networks, the source and destination IP addresses are not changed.

Only the source and destination MAC addresses are changed. So in this case Host A will use the IP address of Host C and the MAC address of E0 interface to send data. When the router receives this data, it replaces the source MAC address with its own E1 interface's MAC address and replaces the destination MAC address with Host C's MAC address before sending to Host C.
