NEW QUESTION: 1

Failure in which of the following testing stages would have the GREATEST impact on the implementation of new application software?

- A. Integration testing
- B. System testing
- C. Acceptance testing
- D. Unit testing

Answer: C

Explanation:

Acceptance testing is the final stage before the software is installed and is available for use. The greatest impact would occur if the software fails at the acceptance testing level, as this could result in delays and cost overruns. System testing is undertaken by the developer team to determine if the software meets user requirements per specifications. Integration testing examines the units/modules as one integrated system and unit testing examines the individual units or components of the software. System, integration and unit testing are all performed by the developers at various stages of development; the impact of failure is comparatively less for each than failure at the acceptance testing stage.
